Announcements

Hot Lunch Menu: Due to an oversight before Christmas Break, we do not have a hot lunch menu already determined for this week. The front office will be working that out Monday morning, and we'll notify you as soon as possible. Be looking for an email update.

Basketball: Our basketball season begins with the first game on Tuesday at Pleasant Valley Christian School in Camarillo. Two things to be aware of:

1. At LVAES, we are striving to keep our programs from overlapping so we can pursue quality in all areas. Unfortunately, the scheduling of our first three basketball games require students to leave school slightly before regular dismissal time. This should not be a problem for the rest of the season.
2. The SCC's insurance requirements have limited our ability to arrange transportation to games. If possible, please plan on picking up your child from school and transporting him/her to the game, or arranging transportation with a parent that you trust and adding him/her as an Authorized Pickup Person for your child. You can find the form for doing that at lvaes.org/resources.

PTO Meetup: Our next PTO meetup will be on Tuesday, January 7, at 6:00. PTO will be planning the committee for the Mother Daughter Tea.

PTO Restaurant Night: Join PTO in raising funds for our school by participating in our Restaurant Night fundraiser at Souplanation in Camarillo, next Thursday, January 16. Be sure to show the flyer that is available at www.lvaes.org/pto.

Ski Trip - Every year, LVAES facilitates a ski day at Mountain High ski resort as part of our physical education program. This year the trip will be on Thursday, February 6. Students are encouraged, but are not required, to go. Parents and siblings are welcome to come along. Your child should be bringing a handout home with them on Monday, and you can also view it and sign up online at lvaes.org/ski-trip. The deadline to sign up for this trip is Monday, January 13.

Principal's Note

Can you believe that it is already the beginning of the second semester? Time flies. I pray that in this new year we can savor the moments that God has given us, in particular with our families. With all of the things that fill our schedules, keep an eye out for the simple things that provide the best opportunities to connect with those you love.

As I write this, there are two things from this break that stand out in my mind:

-Helping Jacob and a neighbor friend start a small business of picking oranges from our tree, juicing them, and marketing them door to door. I didn't do any of the work except provide a riveting lesson on determining profit, cut the oranges, and walk with them so they didn't get kidnapped, but it was awesome to get to be with them in their venture and to share in their unbridled enthusiasm.

-Watching my 4 1/2 year old daughter Charlotte excitedly jumping up and down in the doorway this afternoon as I stopped by the house (after working for several hours) to pick up a few things. It reveals something about the heart of a child that she still gets so excited to see me, even though I had only been gone for a couple of hours and just spent two weeks at home.
